

Year 2 Creative Writing 2: Writing poetry - Rhyming

Poems with rhyming often have a pattern, such as AABB or ABAB.

This means that the last word must rhyme with another line, for example :

The poem below has an AABB pattern:

In the meadow, flowers bloom (A)
Underneath the bright full moon (A)

The stars above begin to twinkle (B)
As nighttime creatures start to sprinkle (B)

The poem below has an ABAB pattern :

In the meadow, flowers bloom (A)
The stars above begin to twinkle (B)

Underneath the bright full moon (A)
As nighttime creatures start to sprinkle (B)

Brainstorm your ideas below for your own poem (including if it will be an AABB or ABAB pattern)
